Statement #1 (Summer Warning)

A word of warning on these hot summer days is to leave your dog at home where he is safe. On a hot day the inside of a car heats very quickly. On an 85-degree day, the temperature inside your car—with the windows slightly opened—will reach 102 degrees in 10 minutes. In 30 minutes it will go to 120 degrees. Don't risk their life—leave them at home and remember they also need shade and plenty of fresh water. We welcome you to visit our web site at www.mesavetclinic.com

Statement #2 (Micro chipping)

Did you know 10 million pets get lost every year? Without ID, 90% will not be returned home. Almost 4 million are euthanized every year because their owners cannot be found in time. Micro chipping is a permanent identification where your pet is registered in Home Again national database. Ask to have your pet microchipped during your next appointment and create a forever bond between you and the pet you love. Together with the Home Again pet recovery system, you'll give your pet the best chance of coming back home to you!

Statement #3 (Internet Resources)

The growing popularity of the Internet has made it easier and faster to find health-related information. Although much of it is valuable, some of it is false and misleading. You wonder: What is the original source of information? How is the information documented? And how is information reviewed before it's posted? Mesa Veterinary Clinic is pleased to provide professionally written articles updated by practice experts and reviewed by practitioners to bring you the most up-to-date, trustworthy pet health information. Quickly find the article you need by using our easy-to-use search system. Search by keyword or filter by species and topic. It's all on our web site at www.mesavetclinic.com.
